Commercial Printing License

- 3) The license does not include forwarding, distributing or selling the STL-files.
- 4) The license does not allow for casting printed models for example by making silicon-molds of them and then resin casting or similar practices.
- 5) When selling the prints, it is always necessary to refer back to our website on each individual product page: (<https://www.warscenery.com/shop>) and include the information that this model was designed by War Scenery and that you offer prints with an official War Scenery printing license.
- 6) Care must be taken to ensure that the prints are sold to end consumers in good quality.
- 7) A resale or transition of this license is not possible.
- 8) If you cannot use photos of actual printed models as product images right away, you can send a request to use our renders with a War Scenery Logo watermark until the photos available. These rendered images of our models, that we use on our website for example, may not be used in any ads like Facebook ads. We highly recommend you use actual photos of printed models though as they tend to sell better.
- 9) War Scenery retains the right to use any of your product photos that contain War Scenery models on our social media, website, news blog, gallery or similar.
- 10) The License is valid for 1 month after the document has been signed by both parties, starting at the date specified above. Before the month has passed you need to pay for the next invoice to prolong the license for another month. The payment is done monthly but 6 months are the minimum required runtime.
- 11) Violations of any of these rules results in the immediate withdrawal of the license and may result in legal consequences.
